

STUDY IN SWEDEN

What's It All About?

The Study in Sweden event offers a valuable chance for Swedish universities and prospective students in the U.S. to network and forge connections. This event also serves as a platform for Swedish universities to enhance their global presence, strengthen international networks, and contribute to the advancement of higher education and research worldwide.

What Can You Expect?

Universities participating in the Study in Sweden event can expect increased visibility, valuable networking opportunities, direct engagement with prospective students, insights into student preferences, and the chance to showcase the unique benefits of studying in Sweden.

An Exclusive Opportunity

The Study in Sweden event offers Swedish universities a unique platform to showcase their academic excellence and highlight the values and experience of studying in Sweden. Engaging with students offers Swedish universities invaluable opportunities for recruitment.

During Study in Sweden

Direct interaction with potential students is a key feature of the event. University representatives can answer questions, provide personalized guidance, and address any concerns that prospective students might have about studying in Sweden.

More than an educational exchange

The Study in Sweden event not only facilitates academic collaborations but also encourages cultural exchange and mutual understanding between Sweden and the U.S. It serves as a platform for fostering cross-cultural dialogue and enhancing the educational experiences of students and scholars from both nations.

Feedback from previous years

Which part of the event did you enjoy the most?

“The events were well organised and it is always rewarding to meet with interested students”

“Networking with other universities and meeting prospective students”

“The NYC event - New York is a major city to connect with numerous prospective students”

STUDY IN SWEDEN

Three major areas in the U.S.

Swedish universities will travel to three prominent areas across the United States, aiming to connect with students in the U.S. and showcase the educational prospects in Sweden. We invite you to participate in these events, providing a platform to engage with prospective students in Washington D.C., New York, and San Fransisco/Silicon Valley.

The Study in Sweden event will provide an excellent opportunity for universities to meet U.S. students potentially interested in studying in Sweden. With venues that can accommodate 100-150 people and catering serving light meals and beverages, students and university representatives will have ample opportunity to mingle and connect.

Participation fee: $4,000 USD per university.
